

THE FUTURE IS HYBRID WORKING

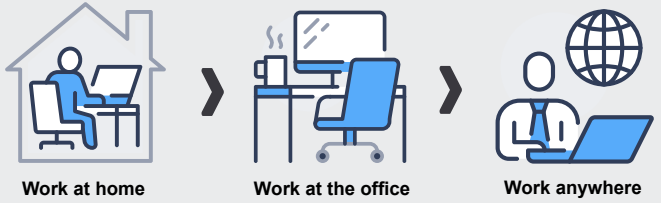

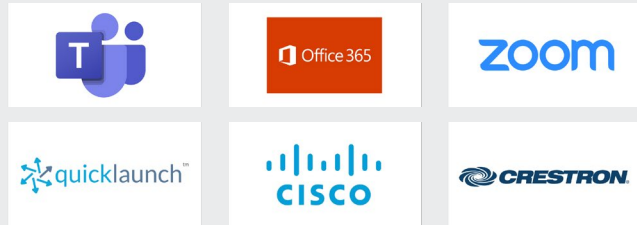

COLLABORATE WITH SHARP/NEC

More employees will wish to work from home more frequently, but physical meetings will continue to play an important part of everyday. A significant post-covid shapeshift in the business world will be that almost every physical meeting will include participants joining remotely.

Considerations

- To create a seamless workflow between the home-office, remote workspaces and the office.
- To empower employees to work effectively from anywhere, yet to continue to protect their health and wellbeing.
- To ensure frictionless connectivity of devices and interaction using familiar digital tools and high-quality audio / video experiences.
- To maintain conducive meeting spaces which encourage safe, in-person meetings with effortless inclusion of remote participants.
